NOTE 1: Many attacks & killings of PWA in Africa are not documented or reported. UTSS is certain that crimes of colour against PWA are common in various parts of almost all African countries. LEGENDS & MYTHS ABOUND, AND UTSS HAS YET TO HEAR OF ONE THAT IS HUMANIZING. Most myths reduce PWA to ghosts, magical beings or curses, etc. On rare occasion the discrimination is reversed and the PWA are “deified” into “gods”. Either way, they rarely get to enjoy their status as normal human beings. Many countries have stories about the mysterious disappearance of PWA. There is a growing, documented truth to these rumors. We know that many PWA have “disappeared” due to abduction, then mutilated and killed by fellow citizens (sometimes family members “friends” or neighbours) for the purpose of witchcraft related rituals. These ritual attacks frequently find their roots in ancient ancestral beliefs, are a familiar concept to most Africans, and have been going on since time beyond memory.

NOTE 2: Countries known to be involved in the cross-border trade of PWA and their body parts: Tanzania, Burundi, Kenya, DRC, Mozambique, Malawi, South Africa, Swaziland, NOTE 3: UTSS gathers this data from its own field research and also from its partners on the ground. We record cases that have been thoroughly verified. However this is not always possible. In such cases, we record cases from partners, media and civil society that are reasonable and prima facie credible.

Benin, 18 reports: (PFI 113 of 180 / CPI 80 of 180) 5 killings / 5 survivors / 7 missing / 1 grave

robbery

Most recent survivor: On August 4, 2017, a 13 year old girl with albinism by the name of Anna Gnanhwui narrowly escaped abduction and was found unhurt the following day in Dogbo in the south west of Benin. According to Anna’s cousin, Mr. Valentin GOSSA, she was just leaving the marketplace with one of her sisters and was in the neighbourhood of Dogbo Zaphi public primary school when the kidnapers approached frightening Anna's sister away and abducting Anna in a black Ford Focus with the licence number AY 4078. The police were immediately alerted and launched a large patrol of the surrounding area. Under intense pressure, the kidnapers were forced to release Anna in a bush where she spent the night. The following morning she found help and was reunited with her family at the Dogbo's Police station with the General Director of the National Police. All 3 suspects who committed the abduction are Beninese from Dogbo and have been arrested by Commander CIE APLAHOUE and his team and will be presented to a public prosecutor. Most recent killing: On July 13, 2013, a 20 year old man with albinism known as Francois (HOUANOU Mahouto François) was deceived, drugged, kidnapped, killed and mutilated in his homeland of Benin. François lived in the community of Lalo in south-western Benin, where he was learning to become a nurse in one of the hospitals at Lalo Centre. Francois had a cousin named Pascal (HLEKPE Pascal) who lived in Koudjon Centre, a small village near Lalo. Both boys had grown up together in the same hamlet of Ouinsouhoué. On that fateful day, Pascal approached his cousin with albinism in order to deceive him, saying that he'd found a high paying job for him in downtown Cotonou, and that the boss wanted to meet right away. François showed no hesitation and after a 3 hour ride, they went to wait for the so-called boss in a bar. Here Francois was drugged and kidnapped to Porto-Novo, the country's capital city, where he was killed, and parts of his body removed. When Pascal returned home to Lalo alone, everyone started asking for François. Pascal kept insisting that he had not traveled anywhere with François. Since many had seen them travelling together, people started threatening him to tell the truth. In an attempt to conceal the truth and silence the family, he decided to consult various witchdoctors to make him amulets. Finally he and his three accomplices went to consult one of the visionaries of the Celestial Churches of Christ. He told him the whole story and begged him to mystically silence everyone about the murder in exchange for a lot of money. The visionary left his house briefly and called the police, who arrived quickly. The criminals tried to escape but the police shot one of them and all four were arrested and placed in custody. Of the four, one was released when it was discovered that he was the younger brother to one of the criminals and had nothing to do with the murder. The other three were placed in the prison in Lokossa and are serving their sentences. Most recent missing: On March 23, 2019, a 45-year-old man with albinism by the name of Allavo Arnaud went missing in the city of Abomey, Zou Department, Benin. The victim was a well-known joiner (carpenter) who lived in the Allavo's home and had his joinery business opposite the DAH TAMADAHO. Much to the dismay of his family, the victim's younger brother may have been involved in his disappearance. According to a cousin, Arnaud had some work to do for an old man who had called him in the morning of Saturday, March 23, indicating that the door locks had been purchased and that he should come to make the repairs. Arnaud has not been heard from since. The old man was questioned over the disappearance but denies that Arnaud met with him that day. Franck Hounsa, founder and chairperson of Beninese Albinism NGO has raised the alert, asking anyone who has any suspicions about Allavo's destination that day to inform the police or the nearest local authority. He concluded by saying: "I pray we find Arnaud unharmed for the sake of his family and the nation. I appeal parents to look after their children with albinism. I also warn adults with albinism against going unaccompanied to a meeting even if they know the person who invites them to that meeting." Most recent grave robbery: In September of 2018, a 50-year-old woman with albinism by the name of Dame Clémentine Kantchemé ends up dying of skin cancer after which her lifeless body was decapitated by a family member at her burial in the woods near her family home in the community of Allada, Atlantique Department, Benin. Over the span of multiple unknown dates throughout the course of her life, the deceased had survived numerous abduction attempts and other inhumane cruelties at the hands of her family. Dame Clémentine had always been disowned by her father's family who compared her to a white monster along with many other punishing psychological abuses. She never did manage to move past these cruelties and build a family of her own. At one-point she was very sick with wounds all over her body and finally decided to seek assistance from her mother's younger sister, hoping for a more supportive response. Tragically, and to her great surprise, she was ill-treated by her aunt as well, being forced to cook despite her poor vision and deteriorating health. One day while cooking, a fire broke out in the kitchen. Because she only had sight in one eye which suffered from low vision, she didn't immediately notice the fire and was nearly burnt alive. Thankfully she was rescued by some neighbours. To make life worse, her aunt colluded with a witchdoctor to get rid of her for good. The aunt told Dame Clementine that she knew of a witchdoctor who could heal her but that the treatment consisted of pouring boiled water over the left side of her face. This was pure torture for Dame Clémentine who screamed for help while being overpowered by the perpetrators. She lost half of her left ear during this so-called "cure" ritual, and the skin on her face had all but disappeared and became infested with maggots. Upon arrival at hospital the doctors denounced the so-called treatment, describing it as Machiavellian. In September of 2018, Dame Clémentine Kantchemé finally died of skin cancer. Her body was immediately apprehended by the family who refused to give her a decent funeral, saying that she did not deserve a coffin or a grave in a cemetery. One of the Kantchemé family members publicly declared that he needed her head because, since childhood she had been very lucky, having escaped their many attempted kidnappings. Nestor, one of the deceased cousins, insisted on participating in the burial in the bush in ALLADA. Following the funeral, Nestor told police that the body's head had been removed before it was buried. The police warned him against pushing the case further for fear that he may be killed by the family. They went on to tell Nestor that this was a family matter and that there was no need to "make noise" about the body parts that had been removed since the victim was already dead. Botswana, 3 reports: (PFI 39 of 180 / CPI 34 of 180) 3 survivors

Survivor account: In September of 1998, a 27 year old woman with albinism by the name of Ofentse Serurubele narrowly escaped a second plot against her life. The incident took place at Kanye, her native village in Southern Botswana. Although Serurubele was a primary school teacher in the city of Jwaneng, Botswana, she was pregnant and staying in her native village at the time. On this near fateful day, her young brother encountered three guys in the village night club who knew Serurubele. They offered him some beer to get him drunk, hoping to manipulate him into joining their murder plot against his sister. Fortunately he sensed something was wrong and secretly managed to replace the beer with water while pretending to be drunk. The guys asked him: "Where is your sister, the albino teacher?" "Your sister could actually make the deal: She is albino and pregnant!" "We want her flesh...!" Serurubele's brother lied, telling them she was teaching in Jwaneng City but would be home for the weekend and that they could find her then. When he got home from the club that evening, Serurubele's brother told her everything and warned her to leave immediately to Jwaneng city for her safety. After that incident, Serurubele stayed in the city for a long time. Burkina Faso, 9 reports: (PFI 38 of 180 / CPI 85 of 180) 2 killing / 6 survivors / 1 asylum

Most recent killing: On August 14, 2012 a 12 year old boy with albinism was killed in Gaoua, Burkina Faso. Witnesses report that the body was found with his head and genitals removed. (source: “L’Express du Faso” on Wednesday, August 15, 2012)

Other killing account (date unknown): A 16 year old person with albinism (PWA) was allegedly murdered by François Compaore, brother of Burkina Faso’s president at that time. It is believed that the killing was related to human sacrifice. In the newspaper “L’Indépendant”, a former soldier by the name of Delma Daogo, who was in active service to Compaore at that time, gave an interview where he explained: François Compaoré (the president’s brother) sent David Ouedraogo (his driver) to Ouagadougou Central Mosque, a place where PWA congregate to appeal for money, in order to bring one of them to him so that he could make a sacrifice. David brought a 16 year old PWA for the alleged purpose of making prayers in the compound of François Compaoré. The driver was then given 50.000F (about 100 US dollars) and asked to go home. Once at his home, David realized he had forgotten his wallet and returned to pick it up. When he arrived, he saw that they had killed the PWA and cut him into pieces. (Source: l’Indépendant - link to article no longer active - This newspaper was founded by the late journalist, Mr. Norbert Zongo who was allegedly assassinated by President Blaise Compaore’s regime due, in part, to the publication of this article about a PWA murder.)

Most recent abduction: On April 18th, 2012, Dr. Pius Kamau, an American physician originally from Kenya, was an eye witness at the Nairobi airport to three aggressive African men being allowed to transport a young boy with albinism out of the country without a passport. He said the men had come from Tanzania and were headed to Ouagadougou, in Burkina Faso and that they used loud, offensive language as the airline attendant asked for the missing passport -- they had three passports and none for the child. Dr. Kamau is now convinced that the three-year-old boy with albinism is no longer a baby headed to a loving family, but a sacrifice at some altar of a cruel witchcraft ceremony. Burundi, 39 reports: (PFI 160 of 180 / CPI 165 of 180) 22 killings, 13 survivors, 4 grave robberies.

Most recent killing: On August 13, 2019, a 17-year-old boy with albinism went missing in the community of Mugina in the province of Cibitoke, North- Western Burundi. After several days of searching, on August 15, 2019, the ritually dismembered remains of the boy were found near his village along the banks of the Rusizi River which separates Burundi from the DRC. “The young albino was killed atrociously ... His murderers cut his right leg off at the knee, his right arm and his tongue,” said Kassim Kazungu, head of the local albinism association called Albinos Without Borders. The boy’s family is devastated and wondering how they will cope since they also have an 8-year-old daughter with albinism. The victim was a student in the Fundamental School of Buseruko at the time of his death. Investigations into the murder have not produced any results at the time of this report. Most recent survivor: On October 6, 2015, a 10-year-old girl with albinism by the name of Alice Girukwishaka miraculously survived a brutal attack at her home in Busoni town, in the province of Kirundo, in MUyange-Gisozi, Northern Burundi. Men armed with machetes attacked the family of Gerard NKUNZIMANA & NIZIGIYIMANA who were accommodating Alice. Fortunately neighbours managed to intervene and help bring a premature end to the attack. Little Alice sustained injuries to the head and shoulder and underwent intensive treatment at Kanyinya Hospital in Kirundo. The criminals escaped before being identified. Most recent graver robbery: In August of 2012, the grave of a woman with albinism by the name of Tabu was violated by unidentified criminals and her head was stolen. Eight months earlier, Tabu had succumbed to an extended and tragic battle with skin cancer and was buried in the cemetery of the Bugarama area, in the town of Muramvya in the province of Muramvya. Her son Venuste, also a PWA, was informed of his mother's exhumed body and immediately reported it to the leaders of the Burundian PWA Association called "Albinos Sans Frontieres". Cameroon, 11 report: (PFI 134 of 180 / CPI 153 of 180) 2 killings, 2 survivor, 6 asylums, 1 grave robbery

Most recent killing account: In August of 2009, the foot of a young girl with albinism whose identity remains undisclosed was found in a garbage can in Douala, the capital of the region of Littoral, Cameroon. She reportedly worked in a Snack Bar in that area. Her foot was kept in the morgue of the Laquintane Hospital in Douala. Most recent survivor account: In 2013 a mother and her infant with albinism began the process of seeking asylum in France because she feared for the life of her child in Cameroon where members of her community attempted to kill the baby for ritual purposes during local elections. (Source: Interview on June 12, 2014, between UTSS and Genespoir, France's major PWA group who were strongly involved in this case.)

Most recent asylum account: On December 23, 2015, a man with albinism by the name Mr. Christian Eric Tchidjo from Cameroon was granted refugee status in UK. (Source: Interviews with UTSS)

Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), 70 reports: (PFI 150 of 180 / CPI 168 of 180) 17 killings / 35 survivors / 1 missing / 10 grave robberies / 7 asylums

Most recent killing: On July 17, 2017, an infant with albinism was thrown into a cesspit (often used as a toilet in rural Africa) by the husband of the child's mother who was absent at the time of this heinous act. The incident took place in Maazi, territory of Shabunda in the province of South-Kivu, in DRC. The baby died and the murderer has since enrolled in an armed group called Raiya Mutomboki. Most recent survivor: This report counts as 2 attacks: In 2017 and again in January of 2018 a 63 year old man with albinism by the name of Jean- Louis Gbangbi Ngbonza escaped 2 attempted kidnappings in his hometown of Alibuku located along the road of Buta about 37 KM from Kisangani in the province of Tshopo, DRC. In an interview with Dr. Gaylord Inena Wa Inena, Jean- Louis said; "I faced two attempted kidnappings. The first time was last year in 2017, some people plotted to kidnap me, but thankfully a local security company managed to rescue me. The second time was in January of this year (2018), a man who had newly settled in my hometown and worked as a traditional gun maker planned to abduct me. He got married to a local woman. His wife informed me that her husband was plotting to kidnap me at my workplace and take me somewhere. He didn't succeed. At that time, I worked as a teacher and director in a local school. The guy came here (Kisangani) from Kindu, province of Maniema. Apparently, he was sent by some people to kidnap PWAs in DRC and take them to Tanzania. I informed the police who investigated his suspicious activities. It was found that he was clandestinely making and supplying guns to a local gang of rebels called Nzambe Lumumba. He ran away when he noticed he was going to be arrested." The victim has since relocated for safety reasons. (Source: On July 30, 2018, UTSS received a

Most recent missing: On February 16, 2015, a two year boy with albinism was abducted in Nyantende, in the territory of Kabare, province of South Kivu, DRC. A journalist for the Congolese Press Agency reported that early in second week of September, 2015, a trafficker of children with albinism was arrested for this crime by the police in Kamanyola in the territory of Walungu. The child's father and paternal uncle explained that the criminal, along with his accomplice and their neighbours, broke into their house while the parents were away, enticing the boy with sweets and wrapping him in a bag. The victim's older brother, age 7, said the kidnapers bought him cookies to gain his favour in order to commit their heinous crime. They have since vanished with the boy. One of the arrested suspects declared that it was his accomplice who wrapped the boy in the bag. The latter is now in the hands of police. Most recent grave desecration: In the early hours of March 25, 2019, the grave of a man with albinism by the name of Mr. Ghislain, who had died a month and a half earlier, was vandalized at his family plot in the ward of CIRIRI, in the community of BAGIRA, BUKAVU District, SOUTH KIVU Province, DRC. The remains of the deceased were exhumed, dismembered and body parts stolen. A local resident by the name of Romain CIRHUZA said it's not the first time that the grave of a PWA has been tampered with, and body parts taken in the area of BUKAVU. It is alleged that these acts are committed for witchcraft purposes. Condemnation of the act by the Urban Security Council which was presided over by the mayor of BUKAVU, Méschac Bilubi Ulengabo, was followed by the albinism group called Association pour la promotion intégrale des albinos. Most recent asylum: During the first week of June, 2015, legal history was made in Ireland when a man with albinism from DRC who wishes to remain anonymous was granted secured permanent residency through a non-asylum process. He suffered severe persecution and untreated skin cancer in his native country. (Source: UTSS was informed via a personal contact from his sister who is now a resident of Canada.)

Egypt, 1 report: (PFI 166 of 180 / CPI 106 of 180) 1 asylum – September 16, 2011

On Friday, September 16, 2011, Hazem Abd Elkade, a 28 year old man with albinism from Egypt told journalist Sophie Bond about his life in Egypt and his new found asylum in New Zealand. He contrasted the profound discrimination facing people with albinism in Egypt with the amazing and equal opportunities he has found in New Zealand. Hazem's lawyer says: "He was seriously maltreated at multiple levels including such things as deliberate cigarette burns from supposed educators.... The hostility toward him was serious at best because of his Albinism. He has now been able to both marry and continue his studies. He is one of the nicest and most considerate people I have met in a long time and doing very well." Hazem says; "I want to be a professor in the university. The first time I ever got a salary was here in New Zealand. I can support myself and my research. I don't want to go back to Egypt, not even for a visit." Gabon, 1 report: (PFI 121 of 180 / CPI 123 of 180) 1 survivor

On May 12, 2019, a 29-year old woman with albinism by the name of Merose survived a savage attack in the capital city of Libreville, in the Province of Estuaire, in the country of Gabon, Central Africa. The incident occurred in a public place where an unfamiliar woman assaulted her, biting off half of her ear for no apparent reason. While Morose begged to get her ear back the perpetrator refused and fled the scene. Although her injuries were treated in a hospital, she will bear the scar for life. In a series of voicemails following the attack Morose said; “I don't know my aggressor. I haven't met her before. I don't know why she targeted me. I'm not sure if she was sent by someone to perpetrate this assault.” In a subsequent recording she went on to say; “I now know my assailant and have had her arrested. She is currently in custody at the Gros Bouquet Police Station. Yesterday I filed a complaint with the police and right now I'm heading to the police station in order to have her appear before the public prosecutor. Mrs. Stephanie Ntsame Ngoua, chairperson of the Gabonese albinism association called ALBA, said that in Gabon people with albinism (PWA) are used to insults, mockery and name calling. We face exclusion and lack of education but not physical attacks like this. “We are all disturbed that the intention of that girl (the aggressor) was to get a piece of ear of a PWA. We are very shocked over this. We know that in other countries, body parts of PWA are harvested for ritual purposes, but here in Gabon, we are not used to this. It is true that some PWA suffer physical abuses like slaps, hits, punches... here people despise us, reject us. To be honest, in Gabon we are not used to see attacks on PWA that result in mutilation and body parts removal. We are very disturbed”. (Source: On May 15, 2019, a Gabonese albinism group called Association de Lutte pour le Bien-être des Albinos, or ALBA, posted the attack on their FaceBook wall. A UTSS representative made contact and requested further information which their chairperson, Mrs. Stephanie Ntsame Ngoua, provided on May 18, 2019.)

Ghana, 3 report: (PFI 30 of 180 / CPI 80 of 180) 1 killing / 2 survivors

Most recent killing: On February 17, 2015, the lifeless body of a 35 year old man with albinism by the name of Kofi Yeboah aka Agbleyevu was found at the entrance of Pastor Emmanuel Agbeze's residence in Owoakra, Boketey, under Amanase in the eastern region of Ghana. According to the pastor's wife, Gifty Asare, her husband ran off shortly after the death of Kofi and she has not heard from him since. Unfortunately the police have not been responsive to crimes committed in this area and allowed Pastor Agbeze to escape without questioning. Since that time however, police commander Spt. Yahaya of Suhum police station announced that because of the public interest whipped up by media related to the death of Kofi Yeboah, the homicide unit at police headquarters in Accra had taken over the investigation. Most recent survivor: On February 27, 2010, a man with albinism by the name of Newton Kwamla Katseku, who is also the Executive Director of the Ghana Association of Persons with Albinism (GAPA), narrowly escaped death. This event took place while attending a funeral in the town of Akwamufie, a community along the Volta Lake near the Adomi bridge on Atimpoku Ho road in the eastern region of Ghana. Early on during the funeral ceremonies Newton was approached by 4 different parties urgently warning him to leave or go into hiding. When he asked why, they informed him that it is against local tradition to tolerate or accept people with albinism in the vicinity. Newton spent close to nine hours hiding in a car as the funeral and other rites were performed before he was able to leave. He later reported the incident to several authorities but has never received a reply. 2nd most recent survivor: On July 16, 2009, in the country of Ghana, a 2 year old boy with albinism (unnamed) was kidnapped by an 18 year old woman named Akua Linda. A week later on July 22, 2009 Linda was apprehended and confessed that a man named Biyanka sent her to feign playing with the boy so that she could steal him. Linda continued that Biyanka took the boy to Asuoeyeboah, another Kumasi suburb, after which he was taken to an unknown destination. Akua Linda, according to the Police Capo, noted further that Biyanka returned the boy to her yesterday morning, explaining that what he intended to use the boy for could not work out as expected. Linda was therefore on her way to return the child to his mother when someone saw them at the Kejetia Bus Terminal in Kumasi, Ghana, and raised the alarm leading to her apprehension. Investigations continue. Guinea, 16 reports: (PFI 110 of 180 / CPI 130 of 180) 5 killings / 6 survivors / 5 asylums & other refuge cases

2 Most recent killings: 1st Killing: On a Sunday in September of 2010, at the area of La Carrière, in the town of Matam, district of Conakry, the body of a PWA was found with the eyes missing— very likely removed with a knife. According to our source, the unnamed PWA used to wander daily in that area with some friends, looking for their daily bread. Their life is made up of begging at the big market of Matam's main station and on the streets of the Capital City. One morning his lifeless body was found laying on the sidewalk. 2nd Killing: At very much the same time in 2010, at the Matoto Market, in the town of Matoto, another PWA was killed in some unexplained circumstances. His body was found completely dismembered; the attackers having made off with many of the body parts.

These two PWA lifeless bodies have made the headlines of all local media including the National Broadcaster RTG. Many Websites and Private Radios have used these murders in their headlines. But unfortunately, no investigation has been considered as if PWAs have no rights. This silence and impunity make fragile the life of PWA in the republic of Guinea and everywhere in Africa.

Most recent survivor account: On May 17, 2017, a four year old girl with albinism by the name of Fatoumata Camara narrowly escaped a ritual tragedy after being rescued from 4 men who had abducted her in the country village of Damankania, in the Sinanya district of Yabara, Guinea. The suspected traffickers kidnapped little Fatoumata in front of her mother at their home. Her father Salif Camara explains: "a young man got out of a vehicle that was parked in front of my compound and snatched our daughter. My wife who was on the scene asked the kidnappers where they were taking her. Without answering they drove off with little Fatoumata. My wife shouted for a motorbike taxi to chase the kidnappers. I immediately alerted the Commander of the Gendarmerie (police) who deployed his team and managed to capture the vehicle. Of the 4 assailants, 2 succeeded in escaping and the other two were arrested." Accused of trafficking a person with albinism, a man by the name of Mohamed Conté and a woman named Aissata Bangoura were arrested on May 17, 2017, by the Services of the Territorial Gendarmerie (Police) of Kindia. When questioned, the abductor named Mohamed Conté admitted that he was a witchdoctor who came to visit another older witchdoctor known as Doubayadi who was also the father of his colleague Aissata Bangoura. Ivory Coast, 30 reports: (PFI 68 of 180 / CPI 106 of 180) 9 killings / 13 survivors / 4 missing / 2 asylums / 2 abandoned

Most recent killing: On June 30, 2017, the lifeless body of a 3-year-old boy with albinism by the name of Sidibe Oumarou was found in a 1 meter deep abandoned well situated behind the town hall of Kani, in the ward of Damasso, in the north west of Ivory Coast. According to first testimonies gathered by Mamidou Coulibaly, this case was not an accident and it appeared that the boy was tragically murdered for ritual purposes and his body thrown in the abandoned well. Most recent survivor: In late June of 2017, a woman with albinism had her 15 month old infant, who did not have albinism by the name of Collette Ama Koffi, kidnapped from their home in Ivory Coast by a pigmented woman from Benin. The police in Arrah, in the east of the country, found the Beninese woman named Nadège Dassia after she had stolen the child. After four years of trying to give birth to her own child, the abductor passed herself off as a soap seller which easily enabled her to enter the bedroom of the absent mother and snatch the baby. After fleeing the house with the infant in a taxi heading towards KOTOBI (in east-central of Cote d'Ivoire, subprefecture of Arrah), the police were alerted and managed to catch the pair, arrest the kidnapper, rescue the infant and reunite the mother with her child. Asylum account: Julienne is a 29-year old woman with albinism and a mother of a 13-year old daughter and an 8-year old son who, just four days after narrowly escaping a second attack due to her albinism, fled her native Côte d'Ivoire on August 13, 2012 to Tunisia. She was hoping to find a better life in another African country. Shortly after her arrival in Tunisia she obtained refugee status from the UNHCR. Despite her refugee status in Tunisia, Julienne's life has not improved as much as she had hoped, summarizing her experience by saying: "Here, people slap me, insult me and mock me. I don't have a job and I am unable to become integrated". Kenya, 13 reports: (PFI 103 of 180 / CPI 137 of 180) 5 killings / 8 survivors

Most recent killing: On September 20, 2015, a 56 year old man with albinism by the name of Enock Jamenya succumbed to injuries from a brutal machete attack and died. Ten days earlier on September 10, 2015, it was reported that Enock survived a ritual attack by three men armed with pangas at his home in Gavudunyi village, Hamisi Subcounty, Vihiga county, Kenya. "When I told them I did not have any money, they asked for my ear or hand to sell to Tanzania," he said. A struggle ensued and the attackers sliced his left ear, arm, neck and fingers and left him unconscious. His brother Nickson Lugadiru, also with albinism, said Enock was found in that state by his son, who called for help. Lugadiru took his brother to Hamisi Subcounty Hospital, where he was referred to Vihiga. Enock was operated on for three hours after which medics said he was out of danger. The attack has rekindled concerns over the security of people with albinism ahead of Tanzania's October elections. "The attackers wanted my brother's body parts to sell to Tanzania," said Lugadiru who is one of four PWA in their family. The national coordinator of Kenya's Albinism Empowerment Network, Martin Wanyonyi, visited Enock at the hospital, condemned the attack and said if the criminals are not apprehended within 48 hours, his network would take to the streets in protest. Lesotho, 1 report: (PFI 86 of 180 / CPI 85 of 180) 1 killing

In October of 2015 a 16 year old girl with albinism by the name of Thaba-Tseka was mutilated in what is suspected to be a case of ritual killing in the country of Lesotho, a country encircled by South Africa. According to police spokesperson, Senior Inspector Clifford Molefe, a woman from the victim's district arrested in connection with the murder was assisting with investigations. Thaba-Tseka met the suspect at an initiation school where they were both initiates. He declined to disclose more details, saying it would compromise investigations. He went on to say; "We are not in a position to disclose whether the crime was committed as a result of superstitious beliefs or not. All I can say is investigations are ongoing...Once the investigations have been completed, the case will be brought before court and the offenders will face the wrath of the law." Madagascar, 1 report: (PFI 54 of 180 / CPI 158 of 180) 1 killing

On October 17, 2016, in the early hours of the morning the lifeless body of an about 28-year-old woman with albinism was found in Bezaha in the district of Betioky, South West Madagascar. She was the victim of a brutal attack leaving her naked body disfigured and her eyes stolen. According to locals, the robbery of PWA's eyes has reportedly been on the increase as another way to make easy money, a practice that is gradually taking root among the bandits in the region. The residents do not know where to go at the moment. Most recent killing: On December 31, 2018, a 54-year-old man with albinism by the name of Yassin Kwenda Phiri was hacked to death at about 10:00 PM on New Year's Eve. This barbaric act took place in front of his 9 year old son after the criminals dragged Yassin out of the bed they were both sleeping in, took him about 20 meters outside of the house, chopped off both arms and fled into the dark with them. Yassin's son watched his father bleed to death just outside their home in the Kande Trading Center of Nkhata Bay in the Northern Region of Malawi. On January 1, 2019 Police spokesperson Peter Kalaya of Nkhata Bay confirmed the victim's identity and said Yassin worked as a hospital attendant at the Kande Health Centre. "We have launched a manhunt and we will apprehend the criminals," he said. On January 2, 2019 Malawi Police Inspector General Rodney Jose told reporters that they were looking for two suspects. A news report on January 7, 2019 said Malawi Police Services had arrested four suspects linked to the murder of Yassin Phiri. Most recent survivor: On December 10, 2020, at two in the morning, an eight-year-old girl with albinism by the name of Milica Lubayini barely escaped an abduction attempt by 4 unidentified men at her home in the village of Chinguwo, Traditional Authority Mchinguza, Machinga District, Southern Region, Malawi. It began as the men entered little Milica's community and started pelting the neighbours houses with rocks, creating a diversion, and then targeting the victims home specifically. Terrified, her mother ran from the house and the men entered, searching for her little girl. Fortunately, they did not find Milica since she was sleeping at her grandmother's home just 50 meters down the street. She frequently slept there when her daddy was away from home fishing for a living. On this night, her mother ran over there shouting for help at which time the community woke up and chased the men away. This family is known to the Association of Persons with Albinism of Malawi – APAM, who will continue to provide support during this frightening time. Third most recent survivor: On February 15, 2020, a 92-year-old woman with albinism by the name of Tafwauli Ngona survived a brutal attack when 2 of her toes were hacked off by 3 criminals in her home in Kapopo Mhlango Village, TA Mbelwa, Mzimba District, in the Northern Region of Malawi. According to Mzimba Police Spokesperson, Emmanuel Soko, the victim met her fate while making a fire in her kitchen at around 5pm when the assailant came in, asking for fire to light his cigarette. He suddenly produced an axe and hacked off her big right toe and small left toe before fleeing, leaving her in a pool of blood. When the incident occurred, Tafwauli’s daughter and grandson, who live with her, were at the Kapopo Trading Centre on other business. Mark Botomani, Minister of Information, Civic Education and Communications Technology, said in a statement “Government is further disturbed that the attack targeted an old person, a woman, and a person with albinism as she was lighting fire in her kitchen for her daughter to prepare a meal upon return from a nearby market”. Botomani went on to warn all politicians and political party supporters against attacking people with albinism for political reasons. Our brothers and sisters with albinism are full citizens of Malawi and must never be subjected to suffering during election period or at any other time.” He added: “Malawi Police will intensify security of people with albinism, especially now as we may be going towards fresh elections.” North Police spokesman Richard Kalaya said the three suspects who chopped off the victims toes were identified as Fumu Nyirenda, 42, Eliah Mwandira, 22 and native doctor Kaphaso Nyirenda, 34. Kalaya said they also recovered one of the toes which is under analysis and preservation at Mzimba district hospital. According to his family, six masked men broke into their home while they were sleeping and violently stole Goodson from his bed. One of the family members was slashed when they tried to intervene. Malawi Police spokesperson Kadadzera said “A team of police officers have been discharged to the area; they are on the ground looking for the boy.” Reacting to the attacks, Mr. Overstone Kondowe, President of the Association of People with Albinism in Malawi (APAM) said the government should declare Malawi unsafe for people with albinism. (Source: Malawi24 - 14-year-old boy with albinism abducted in Dedza; February 13, 2019; by Russel Kondowe; <https://malawi24.com/2019/02/13/14-year-old-boy-with-albinism-abducted-in-dedza/>)

Most recent grave robbery: On October 22, 2020 it was reported that the grave of an adult woman with albinism by the name of Edna Zakaria had recently been violated and her remains robbed in Ntcheu Town / District, located in the Central Region of Malawi. According to Ntcheu Police Publicist Hastings Chigalu, Edna had died the previous year while working as a magistrate at Mulunguzi court in Zomba. Her brother Mernard Zakaria told the local media that “We went back to the grave only to find the head of our beloved with the other body parts removed when we thought she was resting in peace.” He described the incident as disheartening and mental torture of highest level. “Think about us, think about her 9-year-old daughter,” said Zakaria. Chigalu said investigations are underway. The President of the Association of People with Albinism in Malawi, Ian Simbota, said the resurfacing of attacks is “heart breaking.” (Source: Malawe24: Thugs exhume remains of person with albinism: Body parts missing; Oct 22, 2020, <https://malawi24.com/2020/10/22/thugs-exhume-remains-of-person-with-albinism-body-parts-missing/>)

Second most recent grave robbery: On May 11, 2020, the grave of a man with albinism by the name of Bonjesi Magalasi who had been buried in 1991 was found vandalized in the Nsanje District, located in the Southern Region of Malawi. According to Nsanje police publicists, Sub inspector Agnes’s Zalakoma, on Monday, May 11, 2020, “Charity Foton, the granddaughter of the deceased, went to fetch firewood within the graveyard. While there, she noticed that one of the tombs had been tampered with”. Zalakoma said the girl immediately informed her father, Foton Bonjesi, who rushed to the site and confirmed the incident. The matter was reported to village headman Mpangira 2 who referred it to Nsanje Police Station. “Following the report, police visited the scene and confirmed the incident”. Meanwhile, investigations are underway to trace the unknown suspects and arrest them. Mali, 17 reports: (PFI 108 of 180 / CPI 130 of 180) 5 killings / 3 survivors / 2 missing / 7 asylums

Most recent killing: On May 13, 2018, a five year old girl with albinism by the name of Djeneba Diarra was kidnapped from her home in the middle of the night and later found beheaded in the village of Fana, about 125 Km from Bamako, the capital of Mali. AFP reports that according to police, armed men abducted and beheaded the five-year-old girl with albinism in what was feared to be a ritual murder for supposedly magic body parts. Little Djeneba Diarra "was sleeping in the courtyard with her mother and her sister" when the men snatched her at around 2:00 am on Sunday. The girl's mother pursued the kidnappers, who scaled a wall with her child, but then turned back to protect her second daughter, also with albinism. "We searched for the little girl everywhere. We found her body beside a mosque, but she had no head," said a village teacher, Oumar Diakite. Sissoko, the general secretary of the Federation of Associations of Persons with Albinism in West Africa (FAPAO), pointed out the link between crimes against people with albinism and political events, ahead of Mali's presidential election on July 29. "Every time there are elections, we become prey for people who want to make ritual sacrifices. This is not the first time this has happened in Fana," he said. "The state needs to take up its responsibilities." "We demand justice. Her head was taken. This is a ritual crime," activist Mamadou Sissoko told AFP after going to the scene. The governor of the region of KOULIKORO, Colonel Mamary CAMARA, the director general of the national gendarmerie, the Commander of the Legion of gendarmerie were on the crime scene, and went to the morgue to see the body of the beheaded little girl. Traditional authorities have been approached to help appease tensions. (Source: AFP-Outcry in Mali after albino child)

Most recent survivor: Early in August 2017 a 13 year old boy with albinism narrowly escaped abduction in Goloninia, located in the Bamako district of Mali. Fortunately for the child, the Salif Keita Foundation for people with albinism in Mali intervened and the perpetrator was arrested. Nantenin Keita, the daughter of Salif Keita, says; "He was released on bail awaiting a date of trial - we don't know yet. I fear we will never see him again. Our assistant in Bamako underwent a lot of pressure in order to withdraw the complaint, but we didn't give up. We feared the boy's family was scared and would withdraw the complaint, but they did not. It's truly a good step forward." Most recent missing: In 2006, the abduction of a baby boy with albinism occurred in Mali. On that fatal night the mother had decided to sleep outside in their yard so that her infant son could enjoy the fresh air. Upon waking the next morning she found that her baby was gone. (Source: An interview of Tierno Diallo on Radio France International on May 20, 2009 called "Invité Afrique" presented by Journalist Christophe Boisbouvier. Tierno is a man with albinism who founded the Malian albinism association in 1993 called SOS Albinos. He was later appointed Minister in Charge of Faith Affairs in 2013 under President Ibrahim Boubacar Keita.)

Asylum: On July 29, 2011, Ms. Rokia Kone, a woman with albinism from Mali received asylum in France.

Most recent murder: On November 8, 2020, a 10-year-old boy with albinism by the name of Patricio Macario was abducted in the early hours of Sunday from the home he shared with his mother and five siblings in Lulio Village in Traditional Authority Mpeni, District of Molumbo, Zambezia Province, Mozambique. A gang of six criminals armed with cudgels broke into their home and physically assaulted the child's mother as she screamed for help to protect her son. Miguel Caetano, the spokesman at the Provincial Police Command of the Republic of Mozambique in Zambézia, said the whereabouts of the little boy were still unknown and two individuals are being held in connection with the case. On Tuesday, November 17, 2020, police in Mulanje, Malawi, intercepted some human body parts at a check point near Mulanje golf club when two unidentified men abandoned their blue motorcycle with a travelling bag strapped on its cargo area after being stopped by the law enforcers. The two quickly disappeared into a nearby tea plantation. On November 23, 2020, Mozambican police officers collected the body parts saying they belong to Patricio Macario aged 10 years, a person with albinism who allegedly went missing on Sunday, November 8, 2020, in Mozambique. The handover of the body parts together with the motorcycle will allow Mozambican police to further investigate the matter of Mozambican court documents substantiating the matter. Most recent survivor: On March 13, 2020, an 8-month-old baby with albinism narrowly escaped a human trafficking transaction by parents in the province of Manica in Mozambique near the Zimbabwe border. Manica police spokesman Mateus Mindu said that a couple was detained by PRM and Criminal Investigation Service (Sernic) agents while attempting to close the sale of their infant for one million meticaís (€13,000). The couple has two children with albinism, and was going to sell one of them, allegedly to a Zimbabwean buyer in the Macadeira area (Vanduzi). Two intermediaries were also detained when “The buyers’ made contact with them from Manica and arranged the meeting, where they were arrested,” Mindu said. Most recent grave robbery: During the first week of May, 2016, the grave of a man with albinism was violated and robbed in a family cemetery in the northern city of Nampula neighbourhood of Namutequiliua, Mozambique. The grave raiders allegedly removed the body, cut off the arms, and then dumped the rest of the body in a bush near the cemetery. On May 11, 2016, Nampula provincial police spokesperson Zacarias Nacute reported that Mozambican police arrested eight people for tampering with the grave. Police said the grave contained the body of an albino citizen and the gang raided it to steal body parts. Thanks to the investigations undertaken by the police, it was possible first to arrest three of the suspects who had a bag containing 16 fragments of bone from the body. Later we managed to arrest the other five criminals, said Nacute. The public broadcaster reported that the suspects confessed to the crime. Two of the grave robbers were witchdoctors, recruited both to assist in selling the bones, and to use magic that would prevent the criminals from being caught. Most recent missing: On February 28, 2019, a six-year-old boy with albinism whose name remains unknown was kidnapped near the community of Larde, Moma District, Nampula Province in north-eastern Mozambique. Apparently three criminals decided to attack after discovering that the child would be at home alone with their elderly grandmother. According to newspaper sources, the grandmother could not identify the people who had kidnapped her grandson, but the truth is that she knows the three men. The whereabouts of the unidentified attackers remains unknown. The Mozambican police (PRM) in Nampula province say they are already investigating the case for possible arrest and criminal responsibility of the kidnappers. “We have already referred this case to the Public Prosecutor's Office, but we also continue to investigate the case,” said Zacarias Nacute, a PRM spokesman in Nampula. Most recent killing: In June of 2010 Ananias Shifotoka, a young man with albinism from Uukwiyuwuushona Village in Oshikoto Region was found brutally murdered days after he went missing. His decomposing body was found in a bush cut into pieces with his head removed as well as his genitals, tongue, hands and toes missing. (Source: NEW ERA News Paper for a New Namibia, 29-June-2010)

Most recent survivor: Source Date: August 2, 2019 - For 22 years, since her birth in 1984 up until 2006, Claudia Mwira, now a 34-year-old woman with albinism, says that she was kept hidden from society in the community of Mazana, located in the Kavango East Region of Namibia. Along with her father, Ndumba Mwira, they revealed their story during a public hearing on discrimination and other challenges faced by persons with albinism in Namibia which was held on Thursday, August 1, 2019 by the Office of the Ombudsman. Claudia went on to say that she was kept hidden in a room due to attacks from community members on her family because of her genetic condition and because people were filled with fear and ran away from her. “People stayed away from our house and avoided visiting my family because of the albino baby in the house,” she narrated. Her father tried sending her to school but even the teachers were afraid of her, thus she only attended school for a year. Claudia said she only became an active member of society in about 2006 when she had to begin treatment for her skin condition. “The findings of the public hearings, together with desk research will inform a report with recommendations to be submitted to the relevant ministries in Namibia for implementation,” Ombudsman John Walters said. He went on to say that his office will intensify awareness campaigns on discrimination and other challenges faced by persons with albinism since they are entitled to the same protection other Namibians enjoy.” (Source: Namibia Broadcast Corporation (NBC): Woman kept hidden for 22 years because of albinism; August 2, 2019; <https://www.nbc.na/news/woman-kept-hidden-22-years-because-albinism.21698>)

Niger, 1 report: (PFI 57 of 180 / CPI 120 of 180) 1 missing

Missing & Presumed Dead - On the 17th day of the 2012 Islamic month of Ramadan in

Niger (likely August 6, 2012), a young man born with albinism in 1986 by the name of Seyni Hama went missing in the ward of Dar es Salam in the capital city of Niamey, Niger. He has not been seen since. On September 13 & 20, 2014, Ms. Kadidjatou Moumouni, leader and founder of the PWA association in Niger interviewed the victims’ family and neighbours to confirm Seyni’s disappearance. Both parties told her that the abduction did in fact take place. At the time Seyni went missing, his family reported the case to the Police who did their investigation, but sadly were not able to find him. Two of Seyni’s brothers also have albinism. Nigeria, 13 reports: (PFI 115 of 180 / CPI 146 of 180) 4 killings / 1 missing / 5 asylums / 3 survivors

Most recent killing: In April of 2013 a woman with albinism was found dead with some of her body organs missing at Okuta, a border town at Baruten Local Government Area of Kwara State, Nigeria. (Source: TheGuardian Nigeria, Friday, April 19, 2013, 19:32; From Abiodun Fagbemi, Ilorin)

Most recent survivor: On a Thursday morning in late January of 2016 a 19-year-old girl with albinism by the name of Joy Ehikioya was kidnapped by, in her words, “a couple of fanatics who wanted to turn her into a sacrifice in the name of maniacal superstitions”. This attack occurred near her home in the community of Uromi (Esan North East local government Benin), located in the Edo State of Nigeria. On that tragic day, Joy was on her usual morning jog 2 blocks from her parents’ home when she was knocked to the ground, restrained and carried to the trunk of a car by 3 unfamiliar men. From the trunk, where she lay blindfolded with her hands and legs tied painfully behind her back, she overheard 4 people in conversation. When the blindfold was finally removed, Joy said she found herself in a room filled with “different kinds of skeletons and idol images and I knew what my parents have been running from was finally about to happen. I couldn’t control my tears I was freaking out. I’m about to be used as a sacrifice to a deity god that does not exist, a man-made god and for what purpose I don’t know. My thoughts were cut short when one of the men said to me with a pleading face in Yoruba language that I understood perfectly well “albina please let your head provide for us lots of money. Do not allow us to suffer for the rest of our lives. Provide us with lots of money please.” It was then that I realize I was going to be used for money making rituals and my tears increased.” Later that day Joy was brutally and repeatedly raped by two of the men, violently taking her God given virginity. “Before they left, they had used a white cloth to clean the blood on me and had carefully placed it in a calabash then tying me back up but this time not so tight. I slept and woke up to find an old man holding the same calabash and was saying some incantations barely looking at me. When he left, I knew I had to try and escape . . . It took me some time to loosen the ropes and reach a window. I discovered I was in an unfinished two-story building, 2 km away from the main road. The building was surrounded by bushes. I was so scared to jump but realized my life depended on it. I hit the ground painfully hard I discovered I’d landed on broken bottles. My knee, arm and ear were cut; I was hurting everywhere and soaked in blood. I prayed to God for strength and I kept moving, crawling, tumbling, fighting so hard to endure the pains and not make a sound. At nightfall I arrived on the road, but no one would stop and eventually I passed out.” Joy woke the following morning in a well-lit room to the face of a smiling woman who had dressed her wounds. She said her brother had found Joy laying on the “Soka” roadside in Ibadan and said they were now in Kano. Joy said her parents lived in Lagos state and the lady promised to take her home as soon as her brother got back. She was very relieved that she had narrowly escaped with her life from the witchcraft rituals that assaulted her because she had albinism. Little did Joy know that a whole new world of pain was about to unfold, this time because she was a woman. When the kind woman’s brother returned, the two of them argued fiercely after which the woman packed her bags and left, leaving Joy alone with him. He sold her into the sex trade where she was traded several times and finally ended up in Libya where, in Joy’s words: “A new chapter was opened, a chapter of random raping, a chapter of whippings and stabs, pain and breakdowns. These men had bought us for sexual pleasures and practical beatings. They came in and out of the room to have us whenever they wanted with little or no food and no hesitation to beat us when we hesitate to do as instructed. Even in days of my monthly periods my vagina got stuffed with baby wipes in order to hold the flow of blood because the men hate blood and they still do as they wish with us in these days. Words and writings cannot explain how terrible I felt being raped two or three times every day by different men at each time. I had prayed for death, but it wouldn’t come.” In the end, one of the captors approached Joy in deep remorse, pleading for forgiveness, and helped her escape by purchasing her passage on a boat for Italy. He said that when “I get to Italy I would be well treated and taken care of but I should make sure to explain to the people in Italy everything that had happened to me that they know what to do to help me. . . After two nights on the sea we were rescued by the Italia sea patrols. I arrived in Italy 31st day in July 2016.”

After over six months of torture and trauma, Joy was given medical care, a kind-hearted place to stay, a very good psychologist, Ingrid, and social assistant, Chiara, as well as a legal advisor for Commission. After some time in Italy she has contacted her family in Nigeria and is finally able to say “I am actually getting better and really do love my life despite the challenges. Now I am grateful [to] God and Italy for giving me an opportunity for a new better life here where I am totally and completely free from dangers. I feel absolutely protected now. Senegal, 9 reports: (PFI 47 of 180 / CPI 66 of 180) 3 alleged killings / 4 survivors / 2 asylums

3 alleged killings: Three unproven murders of people with albinism are alleged to be linked to the March, 2012 elections in Senegal. Several different sources have purported 1 killing in 2012 and 2 killings in 2010. These charges were actually made by President Abdoulaye Wade but apparently not at the same time:

- In 2012 during the electoral campaign, President Abdoulaye said before the steering committee of his own political party (the Senegalese Democratic Party PDS): “Some people told me that Pape DIOP killed a PWA they brought from Mali”. - In July of 2010 Abdoulaye Wade accused the regime of his predecessor Abdou DIOUF and his political party, the Socialist Party (PS), “of the mysterious deaths of two young female albinos whose disappearance was never clarified”. (Source - WikiLeaks, December 17, 2010)

Most recent survivor: On September 8, 2014, an 8 year old boy with albinism by the name of Mohamed Diop was fortunately released by his kidnapers in Thies, a city located about 70 km East of Dakar, the capital city of Senegal. Mohamed was on his way home when accosted by occupants in a black 4×4 who forced him into the vehicle and drove away. Providentially a local-taxi driver witnessed the scene and gave chase while raising the alarm. This alerted people near the vehicle and the assailants ending up stopping and throwing the boy out. Mohamed was then taken to his mother by the taxi driver. South Africa, 9 reports: (PFI 31 of 180 / CPI 70 of 180) 4 killings / 2 missing / 2 survivors / 1 grave robbery

Most recent killing: On January 28, 2018, a 14 year old girl with albinism by the name of Gabisile Simphiwe Shabani was abducted and later killed in Hlalanikahle Township -Witbank Mpumalanga, South Africa. The family woke up to the sound of commotion made by three men breaking a window and entering at gun point to abduct Gabisile. They also took her 15-month old nephew, Nkosikhona Ngwenya, who did not have albinism but was allegedly mistaken for another child from the same household who also has albinism. Gabisile’s young body was found 3 weeks later on February 21. The remains indicated that she had been decapitated, with her arms and private parts removed. The shallow grave was discovered in Cullinan Pretoria which is about 81 km way from her home. The infant was discovered on the N4 highway with exact location not disclosed. On February 20, 2018, Thokozani Msibi (32), a traditional healer from Swaziland living in South Africa, was arrested after police found a human head and other human body parts at his home. He confessed to the brutal killing of the two children and identified the location of the shallow grave. He appeared in Witbank Magistrate’s Court at which time he was also applying for bail which Magistrate Darleen Venter denied. The first court appearance was on February 21, 2018, where he was remanded in custody with the second court appearance on February 27,

2018. The next court date was on the 6th of March, 2018, with investigations still ongoing since the other two suspects have not been apprehended. Most recent survivor: On June 28, 2016, a 12 year old boy with albinism went missing but days later was found and survived an attempted sale for ritual purposes in the little town of eManguzi in the northern province of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa, just 15 kilometers from the Mozambique border. On July 6, 2016, SABC NEWS reported that Provincial police spokesperson Nqobile Gwala says the suspect, a 28-year-old woman, was arrested last week at eManguzi after attempting to sell a 12-year old boy with albinism for R 100 000. The arrest resulted after the traditional healer she was trying to sell the child to, James Mthembu, alerted the police and a trap was set. Mthembu said that when the woman offered him the children, he played along, before going to the Child Protection and Sexual Offences Investigations Unit at Jozini, which set up a sting operation with detectives from Richards Bay. Mthembu is known for his stance against the killing of albinos for muti purposes and has led marches to the magistrate's courts. The suspect's attempts for bail have been denied in Ubombo Magistrate's Court, and she is still in custody. The little boy has been reunited with his family and is receiving counselling. Most recent missing: On June 21, 2016, a 4 year old boy with albinism by the name of Maneliswa Ntombela, also known as Mlungu, was kidnapped and is still missing from Port Dunford near Richards Bay, Mkhoboza at eSikheleni, outside eMpangeni in the north of the KwaZulu-Natal province in South Africa. The family says that Mlungu was playing with his cousin at a church several meters from his home. The victim's cousin told Mlungu's mother, Qhaphi Ntombela, that two men abducted him and they also referred to him by name. On Friday police arrested a 28-year-old woman in Emanguzi while looking for Mlungu saying their investigation revealed the woman had been arranging to sell another child with albinism in the area for R100 000 to a local traditional healer. They suspect she may also be involved with Mlungu's disappearance. His mother is pleased with the latest development in the case saying "I hadn't heard of the arrest from police. I've no words to describe how I feel about the arrest but I haven't lost hope and I won't ever lose hope". As of July 27, 2016, police are still busy following leads but little Mlungu is still missing. The Albinism Society of South Africa is also monitoring this case and we will keep UTSS informed. Swaziland (Eswatini), 12 reports: (PFI 141 of 180 / CPI 113 of 180) 4 killings / 8 survivors

Most recent killings: In May of 2016 in Nkoyoyo, Swaziland, a man with albinism by the name of Sipho Mahlalela was murdered by his wife, Pinky Zikalala. She hired 2 men to kill her husband and then tried to sell his corpse to a traditional healer (name withheld) who allegedly entered into an agreement with her. He is now the subject of intense police investigation. The wife along with the two men have since been arrested and charged for the murder. Prior to their arrest, Pinky Zikalala took the traditional healer to see the corpse at which time she asked to be paid for keeping her end of the agreement. The traditional healer is said to have backed out of the deal because he wanted Mahlalela to be brought to him alive since he needed the blood of a person with albinism for ritual purposes. Most recent survivors: On November 25, 2019, a 3-year-old girl with albinism and her mother narrowly escaped a dangerous encounter in the Southern part of the Lubombo region in Eswatini after unknown men arrived at their home demanding the child with albinism. Fortunately, the mother and child were not home at the time. They are now in hiding and the matter has been reported to the police and it is under investigation. Most recent killing: On Tuesday, February 17, 2015, the mutilated remains of a 1 year old baby boy with albinism by the name of Yohana Bahati were discovered by police in Shilabela Mapinduzi Sub-Village, a few kilometers from his home in Isabilo Sub-Village of Ilemelema Village, Iparamasa Ward of Chato District, Geita Region, Tanzania. Both of Yohana's arms and legs were hacked off. Two days earlier five unidentified men armed with machetes attacked the homestead. Three of them seized Misalaba (father) while two of them forced their way into the house where Ester (mother) was preparing the evening meal. Misalaba managed to fight off the attackers and ran away leaving his wife behind with two children with albinism, one year old Yohana and his 3 year old sister Tabu. One of the assailants slashed Ester's face and body rendering her unconscious while the second grabbed little Yohana and ran away. Ester remained in serious condition in Bugando Referral Hospital in Mwanza City even after doctors operated on the machete lacerations sustained while trying in vain to protect her baby boy. A police search is underway and Yohana's father is being held in remand prison. No other arrests have been made at the time of this report. Most recent survivor: Two attempts - In June and November of 2019, a 6-year-old boy with albinism by the name of Junior John Japheth survived 2 dangerous attempts by strangers to access him at his home in Mhongolo Mashariki Subdivision, Mhongolo Ward, Kahama District in the Shinyanga Region of Tanzania. Junior's mother, Anastazia Nickson, said the first attempt was in June of 2019 at around 1:00 AM when suspicious people knocked at their door demanding it to be opened. At first, she heard voices murmuring outside and when she peeped out the window, she saw 3 assailants with big coats and masks. "They were at our place for about a quarter of an hour. When we did not respond, the goons said in Kiswahili "Well, she does not open the door, let us come another day and show her." Anastazia said that was the first threats she had ever experienced. Unfortunately, her husband John was not at home until the following day. When asked if she reported the matter to the village government leadership or police, Anastazia said "I didn't. I only told my husband when he came back from his trip." The second attempt was in November of 2019 when two people knocked on their door at around 3:00 AM saying "Open the door, you a woman with a child with albinism, open the door." Anastazia said she remained silent and calm until they decided to go away. Realizing that things were getting worse, Anastazia decided to involve one of her relatives, Ben Simon, who alerted Under The Same Sun (UTSS). Upon arrival, the UTSS team accompanied Anastazia to the Local Executive Office where the officer for Mhongolo Mashariki, Damas Katyuka said they had no information concerning the two incidences. When asked why they didn't report these attacks to the authorities, Anastazia had no strong reasons for deciding to keep silent. While Junior's parents remain concerned for his safety, he has just started his long journey of education by joining a day school at Majengo Primary School in Kahama. Most recent survivor of rape: On October 20, 2017, a thirty year old woman with albinism by the name of Zainabu Kulandeya survived an attempted rape by Bundala Luhende, age 20, at around 11:00 AM at her parents' house in Mhunze Village, Kishapu District, Shinyanga Region, northwestern Tanzania. That day Zainabu was home alone when the perpetrator, who was unknown to them and not from their neighbourhood, arrived at the door claiming to be hungry and in need of food. When Zainabu told him that there was no food in the house he proceeded to offer her money in exchange for sexual favours. She declined and asked him to leave, at which time the man started forcing himself on her. Zainabu began to scream and a neighbour came to her rescue. The criminal escaped but was chased down by villagers, captured and handed over to the police. The perpetrator is now in custody at Kishapu Police Station waiting to be arraigned in court on November 07, 2017. While Zainabu survived and is safe and in the care of her parents, she is frightened and psychologically affected by the whole ordeal! The UTSS First Response Team has asked the Kishapu District Commissioner to ensure that Zainabu gets proper counseling and sent to a Vocational Training Centre where she can do something that would generate income instead of staying at home in isolation. They also asked the Community Development Officer to link her with a women's self-help group. (Source: Initial report on October 25, 2017, from partners in the Kagera Region and the Tanzania Albinism Society (TAS) in Simiyu. On October 27 - 30, 2017, the UTSS First Response Team visited and interviewed the victim, her family, neighbours, police, social welfare department, community development department and the offices of the District Commissioner and District Executive Director after which an Understanding Albinism Seminar was also conducted for all.)

Most recent missing: On December 27, 2014, a 4-year-old girl with albinism by the name of Pendo Emmanuel was abducted in Ndamhi Village of Fukalo Ward, Kwimba District, Mwanza Region, Tanzania. The police have arrested 15 suspects in connection with the kidnapping. Three of the arrestees are relatives: Pendo's paternal grandfather, maternal grandfather and her mother. Due to the fact that her mother had just given birth to a baby girl with albinism and prison would not be appropriate for the baby, the Mwanza Regional Commissioner has ordered them to be sent to an alternative secured environment. The police have also set up a search party to look for Pendo. Most recent grave violation: On November 27, 2019, the grave of a woman with albinism by the name Alaturpela Joel Fute was violated in Igula Village, Ilembula Ward, Wanging'ombe District in Njombe Region of Tanzania. She died of skin cancer in 2013 at the age 37 and was survived by her parents and 5 siblings, two also with albinism. On that day, the late Alaturpela's mother, Joyce Ismail Chanafi, discovered that the village authority was already informed and at her daughters' grave site by the time a neighbor told her what had happened. The Village Executive Officer (VEO), Tegemea Mbotwa, also reported the incident to the district authorities including police. He later confirmed the incident with the UTSS Team saying, "This is the first event of its kind in this village since I was appointed in 2016." He went on to say that some of the digging tools had been left behind and it seems the criminals did not fulfil their mission. At this point the VEO called the police who together with district health personnel obtained legal permission and on December 28, 2019 exhumed the body concluding that nothing was stolen. The village elders and relatives were then given permission to rebury the remains of their loved one. The VEO expressed concern that, unless the grave is rebuilt with concrete blocks "I am worried these thugs may one day come back as it seems they did not complete their mission." Confiding in the UTSS Team, Ayoub Joel Fute, the deceased's younger brother with albinism said, "I am living in great fear following this incident; in the absence of my sister's grave, these people could have focused on me." The Wanging'ombe District Police Officer, Senior Superintendent of Police (SSP), Magnus Millinga said that although no arrests have been made, information suggests that some close family members may be involved. The police are continuing their investigation and have given this case the number RB No: WANG/PE/19/2019. During their investigation, the UTSS First Response Team had the opportunity to attend a two-hour interview with

Makambako Community Radio by the name of “ICE FM Radio” on awareness rising about albinism. They also did an Understanding Albinism presentation to the family and neighbors of the late Alatupela which included the District Executive Director (DED), District Commissioner (DC) and the District Police Officer. (Source: UTSS Tanzania received grave robbery information on December 15, 2019, on a WhatsApp post from William Simwali of Action on Albinism, who is a UTSS resource person in Mbeya. Clouds TV also reported this incident. Between December 19 to 22, 2019 UTSS First Response Mission visited the family and site of the attempted grave robbery along with the Wanging’ombe Social Welfare Officer (SWO), Barnabas Sichone – mobile: 0752155269 – who was their contact person from the area. The team also interviewed Igula Village Executive Officer (VEO), Tegemea Ndabiti Mbotwa – 0766112254, Wanging’ombe District Development Director (DED), Edes Lukoa - 0766050788, the late Alatupela’s mother, Joyce Ismail Chanafi – 0756544090, Ayoub Fute, brother of the late Alatupela – 0752270141, and Wanging’ombe OCD, SSP Magnus Millinga – 0754553579)

Togo, 1 report: (PFI 71 of 180 / CPI 130 of 180) 1 killing

Most recent killing: On September 23, 2017, a 2 year old boy with albinism by the name of Nahladja Monnoble was reported missing between 8:00 and 9:00 PM in the city of Dapaong in the locality of Pana Bagou in northern Togo, West Africa. The little boy was later found dead and buried. It was reported that the victim’s body was supposed to be exhumed on the third day following his burial and taken to the neighbouring country of Benin to serve in witchcraft practices for the purpose of bringing riches. Some of the 4 suspected murderers have been arrested and are currently in the hands of the local police. The Togo Albinism Association ANAT says “We have a video footage of the burial of the little boy. We firmly condemn this act and demand your support to say NO to these acts in our country.” (Source: UTSS was contacted on September 28, 2017, by the Togo Albinism Association: Association nationale des albinos du Togo (ANAT); Chairperson: Mr. Souradji OURO-YONDOU; Secretary: Mr. Abdoul Karim Nassirou; Email address: albitogo@yahoo.fr)

Uganda, 9 reports: (PFI 125 of 180 / CPI 137 of 180) 8 survivors / 1 asylum

Asylum: Legal history was made in the USA when, on December 16, 2020, a 34-year-old woman with albinism from Uganda was granted asylum in Boston, Massachusetts.

Most recent survivor: This report counts as 2 separate PWA attacks - On October 7, 2016, 2 boys with albinism were kidnapped in the village of Bujuko in Central Uganda. They are part of a family with many children among whom four have albinism. The mother is facing many challenges after separating from her husband who wanted to sacrifice one of the children with albinism. The kidnapping occurred while four of the siblings were on their way to school and the two older boys were blindfolded with handkerchiefs believed to have chemicals on them. Some people saw the boys in a taxi and telephoned their mother asking if she knew where the boys were going. Oblivious of the situation, she denied that they were her children but the other person insisted on their identity. A one and a half day search began for the boys who were miraculously found alive and well in a medium income Kampala suburb looking for their way home. It was a long search using police, local radio stations and word of mouth. The case is still under investigation and a lot of information is not yet available. USA, 2 reports: (PFI 45 of 180 / CPI 23 of 180) 2 survivors

This report counts as 2 separate PWA attacks - In 1899, at the turn of the 20th century, two young African-American brothers with albinism by the names of George (6) and Willie (9) Muse went missing in the Jim Crow South Town of Truevine, Virginia, USA. George and Willie were two little boys born to a sharecropper family on a sweltering tobacco farm. One day a white man by the name of James “candy” Shelton offered them a piece of candy, setting off events that would traffic them around the world and change their lives forever. From the time these two vulnerable boys were kidnapped, they were lied to by their Circus management captors and told that their mother was dead. As far as George and Willie were concerned, they were now totally on their own for the rest of their lives. Captured into the circus, the Muse brothers performed for royalty at Buckingham Palace and headlined over a dozen sold-out shows at New York's Madison Square Garden. They were global “superstars” in a pre-broadcast era. But the very root of their “success” was in the color of their skin and in the outrageous caricatures they were forced to assume: supposed cannibals, sheep-headed freaks, even “Ambassadors from Mars.” The Muse brothers were victims of violence, for what else is peonage but violence? Back home, their mother Harriet Muse never accepted that they were “gone” and spent at least 13 years trying to get them back, never stopping the searching for her sons. Harriet placed missing-persons notices in Billboard and eventually found her sons. She helped them seize control over their lives, discovering that they were illiterate having never received an education. George and Willie returned to the circus in 1928 as paid employees. Love and kinship impelled Harriet’s family to try for a century to protect George and Willie from a world that saw them as objects for exploitation. The family always believed the boys were kidnapped, including Willie’s personal testimony as an adult. George died in 1972, and Willie in 2001, at 108. Willie did not die a bitter man. He repeated the words “God has been good to me” so many times that it is now etched on his tombstone in Truevine, Virginia. Zambia, 17 reports: (PFI 120 of 180 / CPI 113 of 180) 8 killings / 7 survivors / 2 grave robberies

Most recent killing: Update: On April 28, 2020, UTSS received additional information about this report. In summary, after the Zambia Albino Foundation (ZAF) facilitated the burial of this unidentified and unclaimed victim, they were finally able to find his family who identified him as 43-year-old Emmanuel Phiri. He was survived by his wife, 3 children and extended family. Emmanuel was an accomplished carpenter who lived in Navutika compound in Chipata, Eastern Province, Zambia. He had recently accepted a custom job in another part of Chipata and told his family he would be back in 2 weeks, but he failed to return home. The family became concerned and frantically started a search which finally led to a mortuary with Chipata police where they confirmed it was Emmanuel by recognizing his clothes, shoes and pictures of the body. They were then taken to the grave where ZAF had buried Emmanuel. Police have since then arrested the customer as a suspect and the investigation is ongoing. (Source: email from Zambia Albino Foundation, April 28, 2020)

On March 25, 2020, the mutilated body of an unidentified male with albinism was recovered in a maize field at Yamene farms along the Chipata/Lundazi Road, in the Eastern Province of

Zambia. The victim was ritually murdered and discovered with missing eyes, tongue and both arms. According to Eastern Province Police Commissioner, Mr. Lackson Sakala, the incident occurred between 15:00 and 17:00 hours. After the body was deposited at Chipata Central Hospital Mr. Sakala appealed to the public to report their missing relative to the police and help identify the body, but after more than two weeks it still remained unclaimed. John Chiti, Foundation Executive Director of the Zambia Albino Foundation, said that his team has been working with the authorities to find the relative of the deceased, but the search had proved futile. Chiti went on to say that their organization was committed to seeing that the victim received a decent burial and his soul be put to rest. His team traveled to Chipata and took responsibility for the burial at St. Ann's Cemetery there. Chiti also appealed to police that the perpetrators of this gruesome murder be found and punished. Most recent survivor: On November 6, 2019, a 7-year-old girl with albinism by the name of Dorothy Mulenga survived a brutal machete attack while she slept in her family home near the village of Mutupa on a 2-acre farm which is found in the Kitwe District of the Copperbelt Province in Zambia. Unknown assailants broke into little Dorothy's bedroom, chopped off her left arm above the elbow and pulled out her hair as her mother, who ran to her rescue, watched helplessly. Her parents, Joseph (27) and Purity Mulenga, are both farmers who have been married for over 5 years and have 2 children, the eldest of which is their 7 years old daughter Dorothy, who has Albinism. On the night of Wednesday November 6, 2019, the family was asleep when suddenly they heard a loud noise coming from the children's bedroom. Dorothy sleeps with her younger sister who is 3 and does not have albinism. "Our last born started crying at night and my wife went to check on her" Joseph narrated. Sadly, this was not the usual cry because someone had broken into their bedroom. "When I went to check on the children, I saw 3 people in their bedroom armed with machetes" Dorothy's mother Purity explained. She then screamed for her husband, telling him that thieves had broken into the house. The 3-armed criminals had entered through the window. "I saw 2 people grabbing my daughter while the other one stood at the door to stop me from entering the room." The criminal threatened to hit Purity with a machete if she moved any closer, so she just kept on shouting for help. "They carried Dorothy outside the room through the window to the roadside where I heard her scream as they chopped off her hand." By the time Joseph reached the scene, the criminals had run away with Dorothy's left hand and some of her hair. They quickly rushed to where their little girl was laying and screaming in pain. "We tied a cloth on the wound and rushed her to the hospital" Joseph said. They had to walk for 2 hours to the clinic with the little Dorothy on their back. "We reached the police around 03:00 hrs. and reported the case. They gave us a taxi to the hospital where Dorothy was admitted." Hospital senior medical superintendent Abidan Chansa of the Kitwe Teaching Hospital said that Dorothy was conscious and in stable condition after undergoing an operation to re-fashion her arm. Copperbelt Commissioner of Police, Charity Katanga, said no arrests have been made so far, adding that investigations continue. Dorothy's parents appealed for support saying, "We are asking well-wishers to help us relocate to another place" fearing that the criminals may come back to finish what they have started. Dorothy is a grade one student of Mutupa Community School. Most Recent Grave Robbery: On an unknown date between June 23 and October 30, 2018, the grave of a woman with albinism by the name of Judith Mwanza was violated in the Nyimba district within the Eastern Province of Zambia. Eastern Province police commissioner Luckson Sakala said that Judith Mwanza died on June 21 at the age of 54 and was buried on June 23, 2018. Police have launched a manhunt for the people responsible. Sakala also said Nyimba District Council Chairperson Maxwell Kapanta reported to police that some unknown people had trespassed on the Chipambe graveyard sometime between the burial on June 23 and the discovery on October 30, 2018. Police visited the scene and found that Judith's grave was tampered with and that "After a physical check, the police officers' discovered that in the coffin there were two pieces of Chitenge material, a blanket, a skirt, used gloves and a blouse but the body was missing." Zimbabwe, 2 report: (PFI 126 of 180 / CPI 158 of 180) 1 killing / 1 asylum

In 2011 the severely mutilated body of a 26 year old woman with albinism was discovered.

Professor John Makumbe was contacted by Zimbabwe police and taken to the morgue to assist in identifying the body. He noted that she had albinism and that her breasts and genitals had been removed.
